One day in the Minecraft world, I was in my house crafting an ender chest, when I realized that I needed wood and seeds. So I went to the ground level and when I looked outside it was dark! I knew better than to go outside in the dangerous dark because there are numerous dangers, like Zombies, Endermen Skeletons, Zombie Pig-men and especially Creepers! Luckily I had diamond armour and diamond weapons, but that wouldn't protect me for long. So I went to my bedroom and climbed in my bed. I woke up in the morning and looked outside and saw no monsters so I went outside. I had a weird feeling I was being watched!

When I built this house with my friend Warren, we put in a fence and installed a laser trip wire just to be safe. Warren had made a copy of the Greek Labyrinth but he didn't tell me where the entrance was. I've been looking for it ever since. When I left my yard I headed towards the forest but it took me awhile to find the right trees for the wood. I finally found the right trees, but I still needed the seeds so I went further into the forest. But I still couldn't find them. Then I realized that I had seen some in the field back by the house. It was getting dark already so I started making my way home. Halfway through the forest I heard something in the darkness. All I could see of it was a shadowy figure...no two! Two shadows in the forest! I raised my sword ready to attack. When it came into view I could see it was a Creeper!

"What do you want?" I yelled.

"I know where the ssspecial Creeper isss." it said with a hiss.

"How do you know about him?" I asked.

"I know a lot" he said. "I can lead you."

"Why should I trust you?" I asked him.
"Becaussse if you don't you will never sssee your friend again." he said.
"Warren? B-but he's been d-d-dead for a year!" I stammered.
"No not dead...hiding!" he said grinning.
"But I saw him fall off of the cliff!" I yelled with sorrow.
"He ussssed an invincibility potion. He'sss in the Labyrinth, hiding." he said with a hiss.
"Hiding from what?" I yelled.
"From you!" he hissed.
"But, but, why?" I screamed.
"That I don't know." he replied.
I ran my fingers through my hair and took a minute to catch my breath and try to think about everything the Creeper had told me so far.
"Fine then. I guess I have no choice but to trust you...for now." I said reluctantly.
"Ssso be it. I will take you to your friend and the sssspecial Creeper." he said.
"Follow me."
"What's your name?" I asked him.
"Sssonic." he replied.
"Sonic...cool name." I said.
After hours of walking we came to a field of trapdoors. It looked like a big green pasture, except for all of the doors laid into the ground. The trapdoors were made out of all different kinds of woods and metals and came in a huge variety of colors and sizes.
"Don't touch anything." Sonic said. "Only one leadssss to the Labyrinth, the othersss will kill you!" he hissed.
"The trapdoors are all different colors. How do we tell which one it is?" I asked.
"It'ssss over there." he pointed. "Sssecond to the left." he replied.
I pulled the trapdoor open. The jump down was easy, but the landing was hard. The Labyrinth was really cold, but nicely lit with glowing torches.
"Follow me." he said.
My compass said we were heading Northwest. We walked until we were in a stadium like room. There was only one problem...no way out. Then I noticed the door out...straight up!
"We need to go up." said the Creeper.
"Yeah, I kind of figured that one out. Good thing I have an extendable ladder with me." I said. "So let’s go."
As we climbed I noticed a flash of light coming from the tunnel that we just came out of. But I didn’t ask about it right then because it was back behind us and I was more worried about what lay ahead of us. Apparently the door in the ceiling was a dead end. Or so I thought.
"Look clossser." Sonic said.
I looked closer and it was a hologram. Sonic reached past the hologram and pulled the real door open.
"Follow me." he said once again.
We walked through even more tunnels and corridors, until we saw another flash of light in the tunnel. But this time it was coming from in front of us!
"What was that?" I yelled.
"It was a Nuke Creeper! Much stronger explosion, but very dimwitted." he replied.
I pulled a vial from my pocket. "Here drink this." I told him.
"What is it?" he asked.
"Invincibility and swiftness potion" I replied.
"How many things do you have in your pockets?" he asked.
"A lot," I answered. "The potion won’t last long, so let’s go."
In the corridor there were tons of green and red Creepers everywhere. After we got past the Creepers we found ourselves in a glass tunnel. The outside of the glass tunnel was really weird. There was water on one side of the tunnel and burning red lava on the other side.
"We are really closse now." Sonic said.
After even more walking we came to another stadium like room.
"We have arrived." Sonic confirmed.
No doubt, in the corner of the room there was a golden throne with someone sitting on it.
"Warren?" I asked.
"You've finally found me Jackson!" Warren replied. "We should get out here though because I think I hear those Nuke Creepers coming. We'll talk later. Follow me." he said.
He took us to another ladder with a trapdoor at the top.
"Come on!" he said.
Surprisingly the trapdoor led us out right into our backyard.
"Hurry, it's getting dark." Warren said.
So we all went inside.
"You've got some Explaining to do Warren." I said. "Why hide for so long?"
"I needed time to think without being interrupted." Warren answered.
"Why not tell me about the Labyrinth entrances?" I asked.
"That was for you to find." he said.
"I didn't even find the special Creeper." I said sadly.
"Yesss you did." Sonic said. "I am the sssspecial Creeper!"
It was all too much at once. I blacked out.

Coming Soon
Creepers Gonna Creep
Book Two
Zombies vs. Creepers